

Measure time to value in weeks, not years

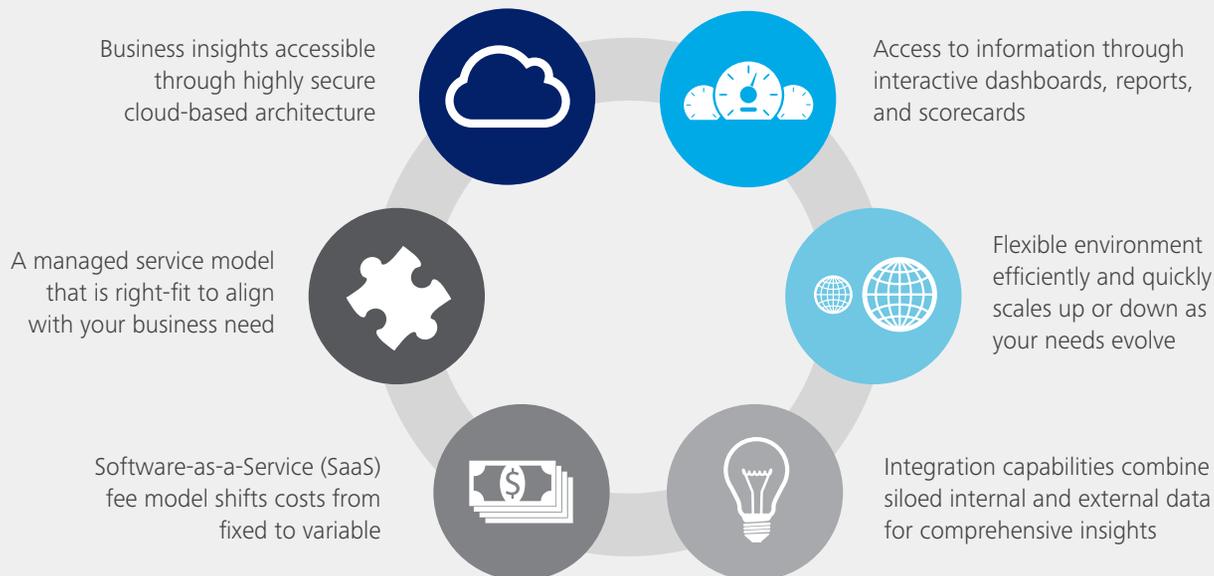

Deloitte Managed Analytics

Few business leaders today question the value that analytics can deliver to their organizations. Many are seeing significant returns across all areas of business as analytics delivers insights that help plug tax leaks, streamline supply chains, improve product pricing, identify potential fraud, and more.

While many organizations successfully build analytics solutions in-house, others often struggle to gain actionable insights due to a lack of analytics talent, shortage of business domain or industry knowledge, scarce IT resources, or significant capital investments. Helping leaders overcome these limitations and gain more value through analytics is where Deloitte stands out.

How we can help

Deloitte Managed Analytics (DMA) offers a smart alternative that delivers business insights offered by leading solutions much faster and more efficiently. With Deloitte providing its expertise and manpower, most clients experience accelerated time to delivery in spite of talent or technology challenges.

Bottom-line benefits

- Quickly launch analytics solutions tailored for your business
- Gain rapid ROI, often within 90 days of deployment
- Leverage leading technologies to address business challenges
- Avoid additional capital investments
- Free up IT and analysts to add more strategic value
