

THE DELOITTE GREENHOUSE® VIRTUAL EXPERIENCE

Experience breakthrough

During uncertain and challenging times, business leaders are looking for opportunities to help their teams defy the status quo, build momentum, and achieve ambitious goals. But, how do you truly engage a team and shift perspectives in a virtual environment? The Deloitte Greenhouse® design team understands that engaging virtual experiences requires more than simply using video conferencing to disrupt ordinary thinking. We combine design-thinking, science, and our proprietary IP to create a more engaging approach to help teams tackle tough problems in the virtual environment.

Introducing the Deloitte Greenhouse® Virtual Breakthrough Lab

Using insights from the fields of group dynamics, environmental psychology, design thinking, and innovation theory, we have developed the Deloitte Greenhouse® Virtual Breakthrough Labs—immersive virtual sessions that encourage collaboration, interaction, and unordinary thinking.

The Deloitte Greenhouse Virtual Experience doesn't start with standard, business as usual communication tools and solutions. It begins with the adaptive challenge facing teams and combines our experience from building immersive experiences with collaborative technology, proprietary IP, and methods that help teams accelerate success in this new work environment.

The Deloitte Greenhouse Virtual Breakthrough Labs help teams:

- Tackle tough, sticky conversations by shifting perspectives, creating alignment and inspiring unconventional solutions.
- Build stronger, committed teams through a deeper understanding of what makes teams click, not clash.
- Using a variety of tested platforms and technologies in combination with proven methods, professionally-trained facilitators, who help participants explore fresh perspective through designed, candid conversation and high-engagement activities.

We understand the complex issues facing organizations.

The Deloitte Greenhouse Virtual Breakthrough Labs are designed to address the core topics we found arise most often...and are the most difficult to address through standard conference calls and long, mundane video meetings, especially when the need to adapt and evolve is critical to overcoming challenges.
