FATCA and CRS compliance
Understanding the requirements
Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA)
FATCA is a U.S. legislation which aims to combat tax evasion by U.S. persons. The intent behind the law is for Foreign Financial Institutions (FFIs), i.e. non-U.S. financial institutions to identify and report any U.S. persons that hold assets abroad to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

As of today, a large majority of FFIs in the Middle East region are adhering to the FATCA requirements (either by entering into a FATCA agreement directly with the IRS or by complying with the local Intergovernmental Agreement) due to the potential commercial, reputational and financial risks (e.g. withholding and regulatory penalties) of non-compliance.

Common Reporting Standard (CRS)
Following on from FATCA, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) has formed an initiative for global tax transparency known as the CRS.

The CRS is a broad reporting regime that draws extensively on the intergovernmental approach to the implementation of FATCA.

Similar to FATCA, the CRS requires all financial institutions resident in a participating jurisdiction to identify and report any reportable accounts (typically persons tax resident in a CRS participating jurisdiction). As of January 2017, over 100 jurisdictions have signed or committed to sign the CRS. This includes Bahrain, KSA, Kuwait, Lebanon, Qatar and the UAE in the late adopters group.

The CRS milestones

Early adopters (e.g. Cayman Islands, UK)

- January 1, 2016: Onboarding standards for new accounts (both individual and entity accounts)
- December 31, 2016: Remediation of high value individual accounts
- September 30, 2017: First reporting exchange
- December 31, 2017: Complete remediation (all individual and entity accounts)

Late adopters (e.g. Kuwait, KSA, Lebanon, UAE)

- January 1, 2017: Onboarding standards for new accounts (both individual and entity accounts)
- December 31, 2017: Remediation of high value individual accounts
- September 30, 2018: First reporting exchange
- December 31, 2018: Complete remediation (all individual and entity accounts)
Should Financial Institutions in the Middle East be preparing for CRS?

Based on the recent CRS developments in this region, most specifically in Kuwait, KSA, Lebanon and the UAE, it is very important for Financial Institutions (FIs) to begin preparing for CRS. Although detailed guidance has only been issued by the UAE Ministry of Finance (MoF), the implementation of the CRS regime within the Middle East and wider region is inevitable, given its aim of combatting global tax evasion.

Accordingly, FIs should now be considering the strategic and readiness steps that should be undertaken to ensure that effective processes and procedures are in place that comply with the regulations.

Preparation is key given that implementation and transition to business as usual is generally time-consuming and can cause increased pressure and disruption on resources and business lines. It is also expected that local regulators will introduce penalties for non-compliance, therefore FIs need to be pro-active to avoid unwanted financial burdens.

Given the first CRS milestone of 1 January 2017, FIs at this stage are at a minimum expected to be onboarding customers in line with the regulatory requirements.
