Reviewing the Regulatory Agenda

About the Forum:

Increasing complexity in regulation and the more assertive nature of regulators has resulted in regulatory risk being the number one risk on the majority of C-suite executives' agenda. With many organisations moving into Africa, understanding the regulatory landscape has become crucial, as the consequences of non-compliance can have direct financial and non-financial consequences. Understanding what is required is sometimes a challenge for organisations, particularly where a decentralised model of compliance has been implemented or where significant growth has recently taken place. We will share insights into mechanisms for monitoring ongoing compliance to manage this risk.
