Thanksgiving shopping period shifts from in-store events

The Thanksgiving period has long been the unofficial kick off to the holiday shopping season, with families and friends gathering after Thanksgiving or on Black Friday to browse stores for the best doorbuster deals.

This year however, the social nature of the shopping period is being put on hold as COVID-19 cases are on the rise and many states have put new social distancing mandates in place. In Deloitte's Global State of the Consumer Tracker, only 25% of shoppers say they feel comfortable attending in-person events,¹ and consumers across the country have made it clear they plan to avoid crowds this Thanksgiving shopping weekend.

To adjust for these health and safety concerns and to jumpstart the holiday shopping season, retailers added new promotions during the third week of October, around Amazon's Prime Day. Deloitte's InSightIQ data found these new promotions were effective in attracting shoppers, boosting sales during the week by 6% YoY. In addition, many retailers began advertising Black Friday promotions since the beginning of November to give customers plenty of time to adjust to a different holiday shopping environment.

How shoppers respond to a longer promotional period is yet to be seen, but consumers have shown throughout the pandemic that they are taking changes in stride, trying to make the most of the season, and finding ways to reinvent traditions.

Thanksgiving shopping traditions are put on hold as consumers and retailers look to approach the season safely.

- Health and safety concerns leading to slightly lower participation and average spend in the period.
- Retailers have adjusted their promotional cadence to start earlier YoY, in an effort to jump start holiday shopping.
- Consumers are looking for a great deal and strong safety precautions, driving purchases online.
COVID-19 anxieties
changing traditions
Consumer health concerns are on the rise as COVID-19 cases flare, altering Thanksgiving shopping traditions

- 57% anxious about shopping in-store during the holiday season due to COVID-19 (vs. 51% in September)
- 74% Plan to shop online during the Thanksgiving period to avoid crowds (vs. 62% LY)
- 61% Unsure or have no plans to shop together with family/friends in-store during the Thanksgiving period, (vs. 48% LY)
- 65% Plan to travel less or not at all to meet family/friends this holiday season, compared to last year
- 57% Plan to avoid in-store shopping during the Thanksgiving period to avoid crowds (vs. 42% LY)

Question: (1) "I'm anxious about shopping in-store during holiday season due to COVID-19" - % Agree/Strongly agree; (2) "I plan to shop online during Thanksgiving period to avoid crowds" - % Agree/Strongly agree; (3) "Do you expect to travel more or less than last year's holiday season to see family and friends?" - % Less or no travel; (4) "Do you expect to shop together with other family members or friends in-store over the Thanksgiving period – including Thanksgiving Thursday through the following Monday?" - % No or unsure; (5) "I plan to avoid shopping in-store during the Thanksgiving period to avoid crowds" - % Agree/Strongly agree (N = 889).

Question: “Do you expect to do any shopping either online or in-store over the Thanksgiving period—including Thanksgiving Thursday, November 26, 2020, through the following Monday, November 30, 2020?” (N=1,200).

Thanksgiving shoppers concerned about making upcoming payments (e.g. rent, mortgage, auto, credit card)

44%

Thanksgiving shoppers delaying large purchases that they otherwise would have made
Economic uncertainty caused one quarter of holiday shoppers to reduce their spending plans from September.

*Question: “How do your overall holiday spending plans compare to just a month or two ago?” (N=1,200).

^Question: “What are the reasons you plan to spend less on the holidays than just a month or two ago?” (N=283).

Top reasons for spending less^ (among the 24% who plan to spend less than planned)

- 47% economic instability/general concern for the economy
- 43% personal decision to spend less on the holidays
- 41% worsened personal/household’s financial situation
October promotional impacts
Retailers offered new promotions in October in an effort to jump start holiday sales.

Prime Day

- 23% Holiday shoppers shopped on Prime Day.

- $187 Average spend on Prime Day, lower than customers indicated in September ($344), as many retailers offered competing promotions.

Holiday season

- 25% Holiday shoppers say deals are better on Prime Day than during Thanksgiving week.

- 76% Plan to spend same/more during the Thanksgiving period, irrespective of Prime Day shopping; but 24% said they will spend less.

- 56% Plan to purchase earlier in the holiday season to avoid stock-outs on desired items (42% LY).

Question:

1. “Did you shop for holiday gifts on Prime Day in this year?” - % Yes
2. How much did you spend on holiday gifts while shopping on Prime Day this year? - %
3. “Prime Day deals are better than deals on Thanksgiving week (Thanksgiving Day to Cyber Monday)” - % Agree/Strongly agree
4. “How will holiday gift shopping on Prime Day affect your spending plans for Thanksgiving period?” - % Same or more than last year
5. “I will purchase earlier in the holiday season to avoid out of stock on desired items.” - % Agree/Strongly agree.
Prime Day promotions drove a single week spike in sales, similar to holidays like Labor Day and Independence Day.
